ProFunds are not suitable for all investors because of the sophisticated and aggressive investment techniques the funds employ. Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. ProFunds entail certain risks, including, in all or some cases, aggressive investment techniques (futures, options, forward contracts, swap agreements or similar instruments), inverse and imperfect correlation, leverage, market price variance and short sale risks. These risks may pose risks different from, or greater than, those associated with a direct investment in the securities underlying the funds' benchmarks, can increase volatility, and may dramatically decrease performance. ProFunds are non-diversified and may be more susceptible to single-issuer risk than a more diversified fund. There is no guarantee that any ProFunds will meet its investment objective. Please see the prospectus for a more complete description of these risks.

An investor should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of ProFunds, Money Market or Access Funds carefully before investing or sending money. The prospectus contains this and other information about the Funds. To obtain a prospectus for ProFunds, Money Market or Access Funds, please call or visit www.profund.com. The prospectus should be read carefully before investing. ProFunds Distributors, Inc., distributor.

Many ProFunds routinely employ leveraged investment techniques that magnify gains and losses and result in greater volatility in value. Each leveraged or inverse ProFund seeks a return that is a multiple (e.g., 200%) of the return of an index or other benchmark (target) for a single day. Due to the compounding of daily returns, leveraged and inverse ProFunds' returns over periods other than one day will likely differ in amount and possibly direction from the target return for the same period. Investor should monitor holdings consistent with their strategies, as frequently as daily. For more on correlation, leverage and other risks, please read the prospectus.
